

TOP LANGUAGE IMMERSION DESTINATIONS:

China

Are your students ready to experience language lessons and meals with families, explore the caves of a Thousand Buddhas, or even feed pandas at the Dujiangyan Center? Explore China and the rich linguistic history of this country. There are at least eight different groups on top of hundreds of dialects and variations. Most commonly spoken is Mandarin Chinese, which is spoken in northern and southwestern China in cities like Beijing and Shanghai. While on your adventure, you will span the extensive history of the country and the language, not to mention the rich culture and culinary experiences as you order yourself some Peking Duck or Jiaozi (traditional dumplings). Turn some ears as you converse with locals and expand your use of the Chinese language.
